October 25, 2026 30th Sunday in Ordinary Time

Today's readings are all about love – the radical love of God for His people and the radical love we are called to live out in response. The stewardship way of life is nothing more and nothing less than the practical application of loving God and neighbor in our daily lives. From the very beginning, God reveals Himself as a loving and compassion father Who has a particular concern for the most vulnerable of His people. He requires this same compassion from His people in our treatment of one another.

Jesus sums up the message of all prophets as well as the purpose of all God's laws in today's Gospel passage, from Matthew. It is a message we have likely grown up hearing – but it is so beautiful and so challenging, it bears repeating again and again. It is Christ's response to a question about which commandment is greatest. His answer reveals both the greatest and the second greatest commandments. He says, "You shall love the Lord, your God, with all your heart, with all your soul, and with all your mind...The second is like it, you shall love your neighbor as yourself."

The stewardship way of life is the unique way that each of us applies these two greatest commandments to our daily lives. To sum it up, it's all about love.
